

Joanna Norland has been a London-based lawyer-by-day-playwright-by-night since graduating from Yale Law School in 2001. Her play, Lizzy, Darcy and Jane, will be produced by the C Company at the Tabard Theatre in West London, Jan 8 – Feb 2, 2008.

Lizzy, Darcy and Jane spotlights the charged relationship between Jane Austen and the indomitable heroine of Pride and Prejudice, Elizabeth Bennet. Neither a traditional biographical play, nor a literary adaptation, Lizzy, Darcy and Jane probes the question: Does the author determine her characters' destiny—or do they dictate hers?

In addition, Joanna would be delighted to meet Yale alumni at the gala fundraiser production on Friday January 11, which will be followed by wine, canapés, and a mixer with the company (tickets £25). It might also be possible to arrange dinner with a group of alumni before the gala, if that would be of interest. Tickets can be reserved on 0844 847 2264.

Joanna can be reached by e-mail, or on 020 7456 6083, if you wish to discuss this further.

C COMPANY presents

Lizzy, Darcy & Jane

When Jane falls in love with the perfect man, she finds in herself the perfect woman – meet Elizabeth Bennet. When her real-life romance sours, she sentences Elizabeth and herself to marriages of duty. Darcy may save Lizzy but only the author can save herself.

8 January – 2 February
